

Meet the Aspect Productivity Technology Team

Scott Watson - Software Developer

Tell us what you do every day at AspectPT?

I'm a software developer for AspectPT. This involves constantly improving/adding features to our software application to improve the day to day lives of our clients.

What is the best thing about working with AspectPL clients?

I've always enjoyed problem solving. Listening to our client's requirements and point of view gives me a different perspective. It helps me to think outside of the box and solve the most difficult problems.

What is the most common question/barrier you get from prospect/clients?

Understanding how the production rule works and the complexities/assumptions involved in how it is used to create jobs.

What is the AspectPL feature that you have seen make the most improvements for clients?

The live schedule. The ability to visualise what jobs to run and being able to see in real time how jobs are running. This helps our clients run the best job at the right time and can greatly improve overall production.

Tell us about an interesting career or personal achievement.

Graduating from the University of Auckland in Computer Science.

What is your ideal Saturday?

Going for an adventure, whether it's going on a hike or snowboarding down a mountain.

What is the best advice you've ever been given?

Whether you think you can or you think you can't you're right.
